

Some pointers to ponder over

1A. If interest rate goes up: "How the poor could afford a house, car for themselves?".

1B. If interest rate comes down: "How will elders earn interest from the bank?".

2A. If foreigners invest in our country: "They are taking away our wealth as profits/dividends".

2B. If domestic Co. invest outside: "Our wealth shifts for the development of outsiders".

3A. If tax rates are increased: "the Govt is robbing people".

3B. If tax rates are lowered: "the Govt is trying to help the rich".

4A. If GDP grows: "the Govt is working primarily for the big corporates".

4B. If GDP contracts: "there is no job creation".

5A. If currency strengthens: "our exports get impacted".

5B. If currency weakens: "Our import bill has gone up".

6A. If Food prices go up: "Masses are suffering".

6B. If Food prices come down: "farmers are suffering".

7A. If stock market comes down: "The economy is in a mess"

7B. If stock market goes up: "it's not a true measure of economy; only corporates are being supported".

8A. If Corporate tax rates are increased: "Govt is penalizing private enterprise".

8B. If Corporate tax rates are cut: "the Govt is only trying to boost the profitability of corporates".

The old idiom upholds itself:

The grass is always greener on the other side.

To every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction.

The economy, the markets, the boom, the recession, growth trajectories, turnover flow charts, Venn diagrams, sales and profit graphs, projections and provisions, and many more.

All these forms a vicious never-ending circle which goes round and round and bounce back with greater zeal.